FOREWORD

In this book we have tried to capture in word and picture incidents of This Year of Our Lives. Concentration upon our studies, representation in sports and contests, and association with our classmates have left us memories that will remain with us through the years.

This has been a year of foundation laying, of beginnings and of high hopes for the future. With patience and understanding our principal and faculty have guided us in our intellectual and social growth.

May this year of achievements and disappointments enable us to solve the problems of adult life as they confront us.

This Year Of Concentration

Bright and alert to start the day.

Drawing his dream house.

Research work in the Library.

What's so hard about Chemistry?

LARRY TATE A

Last October the student body selected Larry Tate as the student who best represents the spirit of SHS. Larry's concentration in his studies has earned him membership in the Beta Club.

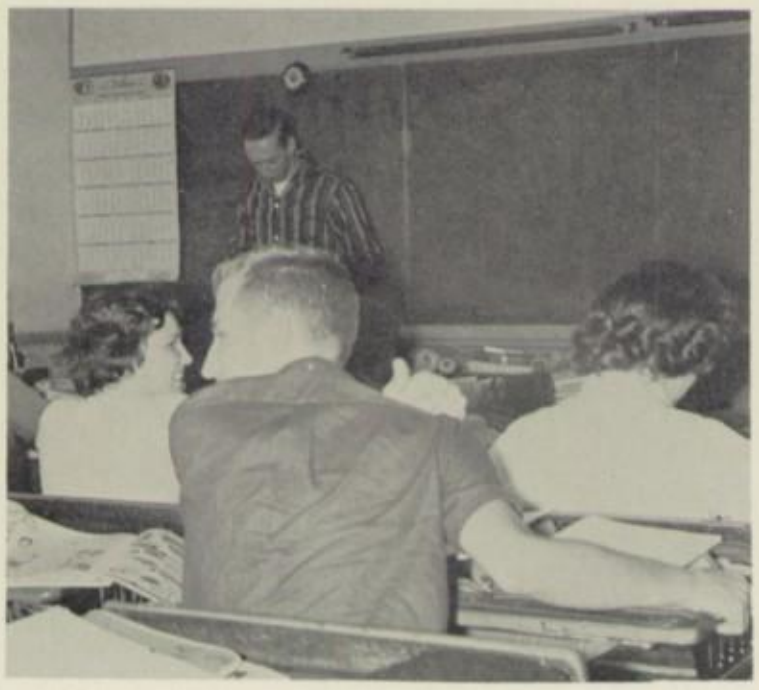
At last, lunch with Jerry Comer.

TYPICAL STUDENT

He represents SHS with the good sportsmanship that she tries to instill in her students. Larry always co-operates with faculty and friends as he associates with them in work and fun. Now, let's follow Larry as he experiences an average day.

Mr. Carter steps in as Lois Phillips and Larry revise history notes.

Larry's anecdote seems to be funny.



The end of a busy day.
